INSTRUCTIONS TO CANDIDATES

- i. Answer Question ONE and any other TWO questions.
- ii. Do not write on the question paper.
- iii. Avoid using the same text to answer more than one question.

Question One (Compulsory)

- a. Define the term “gender”. (4 Marks)
- b. Gender is said to be both an influence on communication and a product of writing on creative literature. On this basis briefly explain the THREE levels at which communicative goals are exercised. (6 Marks)
- c. Explore the female writers’ representation of their experiences in fiction. Illustrate from any text covered in this course. (20 Marks)

Question Two

According to Buchi Emecheta, a woman is worth anything if she becomes a mother, a symbol of greatness and height of womanhood. Discuss the validity of this assertion with reference to her text The Joys of Motherhood. (20 Marks)

Question Three

With specific focus on the character Aissatou in Mariama Ba’s So Long a Letter, discuss how she rises out of her position to disprove oppressive culture. (20 Marks)

Question Four

Explore the role of women in the liberation struggle in either Ousmane Sembene’s God’s Bits of Wood or Wangari Maathai’s Unbowed: One Woman’s Story. (20 Marks)

Question Five

Francis Imbuga’s Aminata and Margaret Ogola’s The River and the Source have their main concern on gender issues in a Modern African society’s setting. Carry out a comparative analysis of the writers’ presentation of gender issues. (20Marks)
